Task: Read the statement and answer the questions below.

The ancient philosopher Lao Tzu suggested that the best leaders are those whose work is done so quietly that the people they lead feel they have achieved success on their own.

- What is your reaction to the content of the statement? Justify your answer by explaining why.
 - Why is responsibility essential in effective leadership, and how would you evaluate the consequences when it is lacking?
 - How can young people develop leadership skills, and why do you think these methods would work?
- ❖ Additional question: Do you think leadership is something people are born with or something they learn? Why?

1. MONOLOGUEANTROJO POROS KANDIDATO

Time: 3–4 minutes

Topic: Routine & Flexibility

Task: Read the statement and answer the questions below.

Some people believe that when life becomes dominated by routine, curiosity and openness to new experiences can gradually disappear.

- What is your reaction to the content of the statement? Justify your answer by explaining why.
 - Why do routines provide a sense of control for many people, especially in uncertain situations?
 - What practical habits could help young people keep useful routines while still remaining open to new experiences, and why would these habits be helpful?
- ❖ Additional question: Do you think modern life requires people to be more flexible in their plans than in the past? Why?

2. DIALOGUEKANDIDATŲ POROS

Time: 4–5 minutes

Topic: Sharing Personal Life Online: Openness or Carelessness?

Situation: Together with your partner, you are taking part in a creative lab for young content creators. You are working to prepare an educational podcast that addresses the topic above and why it is relevant to your generation. The podcast should last ten minutes and offer practical and convincing advice.

Task: In your discussion, exchange the following information:

- consider why the topic matters,
- explore both perspectives on the topic,
- agree on at least one piece of advice young people could follow, and justify why this advice would be helpful.

Candidate 1 starts the conversation.
